

NACHO AVERAGE BOOK CLUB

WHY PARTICIPATE?

Pick what you have the time and interest to read.

You can even “cheat” and watch a movie version. Really!

Discover & discuss themes so important to life that the stories are told again & again.

Find a new way of enjoying a favorite story.

Sound super smart and interesting when you tell people you're part of a book club.

NACHOS!

INTRIGUED?

Talk to Molly in the Young Adult / Teen Department at Fortson Public Library for more details.

Who can attend “Nacho Average Book Club”?

People ages 12 and older who are excited to talk about stories and can handle a few spoilers. We'll talk more about spoilers in a minute.

Will there be nachos?

Yep! There will be chips, salsa, and cheese dip. If you would like a different snack/topping, or to bring a drink, bring it along.

What's the catch? What do I have to do to participate?

You have to be familiar with some version of the month's “theme story” and not get terribly upset if someone spoils something from another version of the month's “theme story.” Nacho Average Book Club is different than book clubs you've encountered before. What makes it different? Instead of everyone reading the same book and then discussing it together, for each session the focus is on a “classic” story that has been retold many different ways. Participants then discuss together what all these different tellings have in common, what they like and don't like about the different versions of the story. The original classic, comic book versions, abridged books, modern retellings, all are fair game! Still confused? Call or email Molly @ Fortson Public Library. :)
